Chhajed Steel & Alloys are aggressively venturing into exporting of our products to various countries. The ASTM A554 specified grade 304 Stainless Steel box pipe is usually measured by their outside dimensions along with their wall thickness as well. According to specification ASTM A554, the standard covers piping in various shapes such as the Stainless Steel Square Pipe, which are typically meant in those mechanical applications where mechanical properties, appearance, or resistance to corrosion are considered to be the primary requirement of that particular application. This guide covers standard specification for welded ss 304 square hollow section furnished in shapes like round, rectangular, or any special manufactured pipes.

Stainless Steel Square Tube has high amounts of chromium and nickel. It also contains carbon, silicon, and manganese, with the majority of the composition being iron. It is considered as one of the most suitable choices when selecting an austenitic ss for marine applications. It is useful for an application which requires greater strength and hardness.

ASTM A554 Grade MT304 specification covers welded ferritic, austenitic, and austenitic-ferritic duplex stainless steel mechanical tube. ASTM A554 MT304 is useful in the ornamental, exhaust, structural, and other applications where corrosion resistance, mechanical properties and appearance is needed.
